The Virginia Commonwealth Games at Liberty University will wrap up 2021, this weekend with two days of Indoor Track & Field at the Liberty University Indoor Track Complex. On Saturday, December 4, over 500 athletes from 26 High Schools in Virginia, Maryland and North Carolina will be competing, starting at 9am. Then Sunday will play host to the Youth, Open and Masters divisions, which will feature over 90 athletes from Virginia, Georgia, Maryland, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and Washington, DC. Competition on Sunday will begin at 10am with the field events.

“In an Olympic year, we are thrilled to have the spirit of the Commonwealth Games alive and well once again at Liberty University, and we’re excited to welcome the athletes and their families to campus. Liberty has enjoyed the partnership with Virginia Amateur Sports over the past five summers and we look forward to continuing to encourage these athletes of all ages as they pursue their dreams.” - President Prevo, Liberty University

Virginia Amateur Sports – organizers of the Virginia Commonwealth Games – is excited to welcome all of these athletes and see a great weekend of performances from athletes that range in age from 4 to 80 years old. This is the 3rd year for the Indoor Track & Field meet in the Games, with the last being held in December 2019 (not held in 2020 due to COVID-19 protocol restrictions).

City of Lynchburg Mayor Mary Jane Dolan said “The Commonwealth Games bring thousands of athletes to the City and we are thrilled as both the number of participants and the impact that they have in Lynchburg continues to grow. While we know that travel and event participation looks different this year, we want you to feel confident while you are here. A healthy and safe travel experience is a shared responsibility with our citizens, eateries, lodging and visitors – we are all in this together!”

The Games are presented by Centra, ABC 13, Liberty University, and the City of Lynchburg.
